[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO MARCH 8.

Washington News.

WASHINGTON March 10—Senator Wilson's bill supplementary to an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States by providing for the registration of every voter in each military district through the military commander also provides for calling Constitutional conventions and for other arrangements preparatory to the admission of representatives from the Southern States.

The Secret Minister, under date of Paris Feb 19th writes to Secretary Seward expressing much good feeling, towards the United States. The following is the translation of the despatch relating to Mexico:

We need not recur at this time to the necessity which led us to undertake the expedition to Mexico. We sought redress for grievances of every description and for injustice from which our people had the ordinary care and animated by that generous sentiment which will always induce France to render her intervention useful when she shall be led to carry her arms into a foreign country we did not refuse terms by which all into which we would have profited but in loading us especially with the work of government, the Emperor had assigned bounds to his sacrifices, and the Emperor had fixed the end of the present year as the extreme time of our military occupation. The evacuation was to have been in detachments the first leaving in the month of November 1866, the second in March 1867, and the third in November, 1867. These arrangements were conformable to our previous intentions. Reasons arising out of new circumstances determined the Emperor to substitute for partial evacuation the simultaneous transportation home of the whole corps d'armee in the spring of the present year. These measures are now in course of execution. In the month of March next the troops will have left Mexico. Far from desiring to free itself from the engagements which it has contracted on its own account which it has publicly announced, the Government of the Emperor will hasten their fulfillment.

NEW YORK, March 10—The Fenian excitement is unabated. Numerous donations have been accepted but owing to the lowness of the funds hundreds who offered to volunteer have been refused. An enthusiastic meeting of Irish American officers was held at the Metropolitan Hall last night. Members of the brotherhood in Washington and elsewhere are also moving in the matter of sending aid to the men at the front.

Nineteen steamers sailed from New York yesterday for Europe on the 9th inst. General America is the destination of ports carrying 11 000 passengers and $57 000 in currency. The Nicaragua steamer took 4,000 U S troops.

Reconstruction—Washington News.

NEW YORK, March 10—Washington special despatches state that Gen Grant had an interview with the President yesterday when it is supposed the question of military appointments under the reconstruction act for the South, were thoroughly discussed. Gen Grant is believed to have completed a set of instructions and to be ready to submit the same to the President and Secretary Stanton.

Senator Wilson's propositions about the reconstruction act have been approved by the Judiciary Committee of both houses and the bill is probably passed.

A prominent Senator has real positive information from three Southern States that they will immediately proceed to organize State governments under the new act, and it is now confidently asserted that all the Southern States will be reorganized under its provisions and be admitted to their former relations by the 1st of July, 1868.

Accounts from Alabama and Georgia represent the destitution of the people as greater than the ghastly stated. Deaths from starvation are reported in Alabama, while a leading paper in Georgia estimates the total number of the starving at 50,000.

Since March 1st 2235 freedmen from the District of Columbia have been provided with homes in the northwest and south.

A new trial has been denied Sanford Conover.

A V Lee the Treasury clerk who absconded with $38,000 in treasury bonds, has been brought to Washington and made a full confession, averring that the theft was not premeditated but that he had been drinking when he committed it. All the money has been recovered except $300.

Senator Morton of Indiana, in a speech last night in response to a serenade, spoke in favor of the military reconstruction act. He hoped the President would execute the law in its letter and spirit. The South would make a great mistake if they refused to abide by the law.

Speaker Colfax upon being called for endorsed what Senator Morton had said about reconstruction. Congress had opened a door to restore to the Southern States civil and political power but Congress had said to them, "you shall come back clothed in new robes of liberty and justice. You shall be led by faithful men into the Union which you despised in the fancied triumph of a fratricidal Confederacy." The friends who listened to him would say as the country would say, those who love the flag shall rule the country."

The Chivalry "Demonstrate."

NEW YORK, March 10—A special dispatch from New Orleans to the Herald, says that the Louisiana House of Representatives concurred in the Senate resolution appointing a committee to protest against the reconstruction act. Charges were preferred against Gov Wells in the House for corruption in having a proclamation declaring the qualifications of natives in the State in accordance with the reconstruction act, and his impeachment is probable. Mayor Monroe the Lieut Gov, and others, had an interview with Gen Sheridan regarding the right of negroes to vote at the next election, when they were informed that if negroes did not vote, the election would be null and void. A bill will be immediately introduced in the House postponing the proposed election.

NEW ORLEANS, March 10—Trouble being apprehended in case the municipal election is allowed to be held on Monday, Gen Sheridan has issued orders that the polls be opened and that the day of the election be postponed till a district commander, under the law, is appointed, or till special instructions be received concerning the case.

Excitement in New Orleans.

NEW YORK, March 11—The Tribune and Times special dispatch says advices from New Orleans represent the situation as critical. A riot is anticipated to-morrow. The municipal election is the immediate cause. There being a conflict between municipal and State authorities. Governor Wells issued a proclamation declaring himself Military Governor under the reconstruction act, which makes all the Southern Governments provisional. He orders the police and parochial officers to obey only him. General Sheridan and the recorders of the municipal courts. The recorders have submitted. The other municipal authorities do not submit. Mayor Monroe and chief of police Adams, have ordered the police to obey no orders but their own. Hence claims that the reconstruction act is not operative, since no official copy has been received, also that the registry law adopted by a loyal Legislature is still in force. Governor Wells orders the freedmen enfranchised under the reconstruction law to vote, and insists that the disfranchised class shall not vote. Thus each party is striving to obtain control of the election.

LATER.—Since the above information was received, Gen Sheridan has issued orders that no polls be opened and the election is postponed until a military commander is appointed, or special instructions received. Gen Sheridan has four regiments and two batteries, and a battalion of cavalry in the city, with Gens Baldy Smith, Mower and Canby.

The Judiciary Committee of the House will to-morrow introduce a bill to provide for enforcement of the provisions of the reconstruction law in the Sixth Military District, by which call the elections and providing for a general registration of voters and fixing certificates of election. It is probable the Secretary of War will be charged with most important duties under the act.

Miscellaneous.

NEW YORK, March 11—The steamer Henry Chauncey sailed to day with a fair list of passengers and 470 packages of butter.

The Times thinks the South is likely to reject the reconstruction measure. Gov Brown's advice common sense among the smallest of the three parties in Georgia. No other notable person endorses it. The Times says:

Just as surely as the South rejects the terms now offered the bill depriving all who took part in the rebellion of the right to vote and which passed the House by a large majority, will be re-enacted by the present Congress."

The bill providing for holding a State Convention in Virginia will probably forthwith become a law. Both Journals generally assist in advising the House of Delegates to pass it forthwith.

Private despatches state that gold in New York to-day was 135½.

European News by Steamer.

NEW YORK March 10—The steamer Africa from Southampton has arrived.

In the House of Lords, February 25th, Lord Derby moved the second reading of the bill to continue the suspension of the habeas corpus in Ireland. Earl Russell gave a cordial assent to the bill which he considered fully justified by the recent events. He commented strongly on the policy of the Fenian leaders in the United States and especially deprecated the interference of the American Government in relation to the trials of Fenian invaders in Canada.

Two Irish American Fenians were arrested on board a vessel from Cardiff, at Cork. Both were recently at Chester.

NEW YORK March 10—La France denies the report that the American Minister at Constantinople has proposed to members of the diplomatic body that remonstrances should be made to the Porte on the subject of the Cretan war.

The new French press law is expected to be greatly modified.

Advices from China state that the rebels threaten Hankow.

A Pekin telegram of February 25th states that 8 000 Turks were defeated on the 13th and 14th in the western portion of Crete losing two guns and many prisoners. The Turks were also beaten on the 17th and 18th in another part of the island.

DUBLIN March 10—The band of Fenians reported to have taken possession of the barracks at Tipperary Kildare have been dispersed by troops. The police and military made an attack on the barracks at Mount Melick and were repulsed. The rebels are said to have reassembled to the number of 5 000 in the neighborhood of Abrahim Abbey. Troops have been sent to disperse them.

DUBLIN, March 10—A Fenian Centre with much has been in secret session in this city has been dispersed and its members arrested by the police. Gen Burke, a Fenian leader in the South has been captured at Tipperary.

LONDON March 10—A telegram from Constantinople states that the Sultan has made concessions which are satisfactory to the people of Servia and has promised to carry into effect the firman of 1865. A Cretan deputation is reached Constantinople.

PARIS March 10—The Moniteur states that by this time all the French troops must have left Mexico, and the departure of the Emperor Maximilian for Vera Cruz must have taken place on the 5th of March.

MADRID March 10—A proclamation announces the termination of the war in Spain.

FLORENCE March 11—An attempt was made to assassinate the King of Italy near Milan which failed.

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 12, 1867.

Jewels in a Gutter.

A "Life of Washington" by a well known author has been handed the editor of the Albany Democrat for review, and we are glad to observe that the editor "after a somewhat careful examination, has no hesitancy in commending the book to the public." Also, we are glad to find Washington spoken of in a eulogistic manner in a Democratic paper. The journal above-named thinks that a "good life of Washington should be read by every child and youth of our land." This is the best suggestion we have lately seen in a paper of that political faith. But it should be remarked here that if this suggestion were followed,—if our youth should make themselves thoroughly acquainted with the character of Washington, should come to understand his political principles and observe the contrast between them and the dogmas of Democracy, this party would be buried out of sight forever. Were facts like these widely disseminated; were they indoctrinated into the minds of the young as they should be, the Democratic party could now no more stand against the weight of Washington's name and influence than it could while he was living and battling against it.

Another statement in the Democrat which pleases us is this: "If the principles Washington enunciated and enforced, during his life, had been more generally taught and observed, our country would not now be staggering under an unexampled public debt, nor would it be laboring under other evils consequent upon the bloodiest civil war on record." This is so entirely true that we cannot withhold a hearty approval of every word of it. The departure from the principles which Washington enunciated and enforced, culminated in the late bloody war, just as he foretold. In order to avert this calamity, he devoted the last years of his life to the work of counteracting the pernicious influence of Jefferson's party. He warned his countrymen what the result would be of the efforts of this party to exalt the States above the National Government. He clearly foretold that these measures would "either dissolve the Union or produce coercion." The crisis he anticipated arrived. The party which he predicted would, if not counteracted, bring the country to ruin, undertook to dissolve the Union. Coercion was rendered necessary; and the "bloodiest civil war on record" was the result. Verily all persons well might wish that the "principles Washington enunciated and enforced during his life had been more generally taught and observed."

How did he "enforce" his principles? When a rebellion broke out he called for troops to suppress it. Let those who six years ago said there was no power in the Constitution authorizing the employment of force to preserve the Union, think of this when they praise Washington's principles and commend him for "enforcing" them.

A Rebel on the Rampage.

One Robert Ould, who will be remembered as a rebel commissioner for the exchange of prisoners during the war, has succeeded in getting his name before the public again. Ould is in tribulation. There are provisions in the new reconstruction law which are specially objectionable to himself. Hence Ould is indignant. His choleric temper finds vent in utterances which gain a reputation the bullying which Beauregard was wont to put forth while searching for the last ditch. The ex-commissioner of exchange has an ambition to engage in firing the Southern heart once more. For his part, he won't submit to this last stroke of Yankee tyranny, that he won't. Brave man that he is, he makes a speech to his fellow-members in the Virginia Legislature, denouncing all who talk of submission, as "traitors to the South." All this is very fine, considered as a specimen of what a high-minded Southern gentleman can do. This irrepressible individual has a pardon in his pocket, and so deems himself entitled to strut and bluster in the good old style. He isn't going to yield to the insignificant Northern faction now dominant in the Government; not he. But he does not tell what he is going to do about it. What the Government ought long ago to have done about it was to hang this murderer of our soldiers who were prisoners in its hands, and thus have saved him the trouble which he now saves upon himself of prescribing and settling the terms of restoration. As he is now in the speech-making line, a gibbet would be the most suitable rostrum he could be provided with.

Food for the South.

Another example of "Abolition tenderheartedness" is reported. The Senate of the United States has passed a resolution appropriating $1,000,000 to supply destitute people in the South with food. The object of this appropriation is to save disloyal persons, who cannot receive help from the Freedmen's Bureau, from starvation. Though these people were our enemies, though, in fact, they are our enemies still, the great North will give ungrudgingly to save them from that fate which is the natural result of their own criminal folly. The North will not disgrace our civilization by withholding her stores of food from these people, and looking with indifference upon their distresses while they are pinched with famine and dying of starvation. There is a class among us who keep up an incessant clamor against the Government because its charity has been extended to the needy portions of the black population of the South. Will not this last act of beneficence on the part of the Government shame these persons into silence? More money has been expended by the Freedmen's Bureau in several States for the whites than for the blacks. If the Government feeds those who tried to destroy it, shall it allow loyal men to starve?

The Earthquake at Algiers.

The following letter to the London Times, dated Algiers, between the 2d and 3d of January, 1867, gives an interesting account of an earthquake which recently occurred at Algiers:

This morning, or rather yesterday morning, (as it is now nearly the dawn of the next day,) I was awoke toward eight of the morning, I think, by a very strong shock of an earthquake, particularly awful, not only from its sharpness but by its singular motion, quite different from the trembling motion one generally feels and hears described, and which reminds most people of a heavy wagon passing by, as one often reads in accounts; but this one felt like being in something, a box for instance, which was being shoved along by several angry pushers over rough ground, and always in one direction.

The movement came directly from the sea and went inland, and the moment it lasted the house seemed hopping from north to south, and proceeded onward that way; it was indescribably terrific. I sprang up from the bed and was jerked forward. I called all the people, and we went down into the court and sat there about an hour and a half, notwithstanding the rain, which fell for the first time since two months. Then, thinking it was over, we again went to our apartments, but soon after a slight shock of the usual trembling kind was felt, and some minutes after another stronger one, of swinging motion, but without the displacing sensation of the first. Since that we have had no other. There that in the town the consternation is great. Some houses have fallen in, all the people are sitting in the rain in the open places, and all the shops have fled to the fields, shutting their shops, etc. A telegram from Blidah announces the fall of forty houses in that town, and the town of Medeah has also much suffered. One of the walls of our house is cracked, and the garden walls are rent from top to bottom. It is true they were old, but still it is awful to see. Another shock is announced, I do not know why, and so none of us sleep this night. A man is placed near the great door to open it directly if he feels anything, and I am sitting up in my bed, which, I am writing. Quiet circumstances make the night most dismal. My rooms are all leaky, and the rain pattering in the tin basin put to receive it makes it most melancholy sound; the whole day has been most dreary, as when it rains a tumbledown chill pervades the house, which no fires can dispel, and the thin old-fashioned Moorish windows let in hardly any light. Altogether I am very much impressed, and the fear, cold, wet and waking make me feel very uncomfortable.

The change going on in the Southern population is illustrated by the fact that on January 28th, as the brig Derby, was about to sail from New Orleans for Rio Janeiro, with disaffected Southerners as emigrants to Brazil, the bark Susana, from Bremen was coming up the river with a company of German immigrants.

STATE ITEMS.

Corvallis is going to erect a new building for a Public School.

The funds in the Wasco county Treasury amount to $9,061 59.

One hundred and seventy-four pupils attend the Dalles public school.

A bridge has been erected across the North fork of John Day's river at Tumalo.

A band of 540 head of cattle passed through Corvallis last week. The owner was driving them to Walla Walla.

In Jackson county much land is being brought under improvement. The Sentinel speaks of a great amount of new fencing in progress in the county.

Walla Walla flour is being brought to the Dalles. One firm in the last named place received, during last week, about 12,000 pounds from Isaac's mill at Walla Walla.

Marshal Keeler, and Messrs. Richter and Pohl who were severely injured by the explosion of gunpowder at the Dalles on the 23d inst., are all rapidly recovering.

The Umatilla Press says that several hundred Chinese will work the bar on the Columbia just below that place the coming season. The gold is worth sixteen dollars per ounce.

The Sentinel publishes a letter from Roseburg which states that gold, silver and copper leads are being struck quite extensively near Canyonville. Rich specimens have been found.

The saw and flouring mills erected on the Umatilla Reservation by the Government are now in operation. The settlers near the Reservation can have their wheat ground by paying the usual tolls.

The story that was published several days ago about the burning to death of several persons near Harrisburg was probably a hoax. The Corvallis Gazette says the neighbors know nothing about the affair.

Fifteen Chinamen were arrested last week at Umatilla under the law providing for the collection of taxes from this class of persons. They were handed over to the road supervisor, but would not work, and had to go to jail. Finally they came out with the money and were released.

The Corvallis Gazette of the 9th inst. says: The weather during the latter part of this week has been clear and cold. Snow of considerable depth still remains on the hills west of this place. The continuous and heavy frosts will seriously injure the grass, and cause great loss of stock, especially sheep. We are informed that Mr. Hays, of this county, has already lost near 200 head.

The Mountaineer learns that the troops at Camp Watkins are already preparing for a spring campaign. Lieutenant Klotier, with a detachment of infantry started on the "war path" last Monday. The efficiency which has hitherto characterized the efforts of the officers of that post in chilling the courage of the hostile Snakes, is a sufficient guarantee that they will render a good account of themselves.

The first freighting of the season, from the Dalles, by "prairie schooners," is by C. M. Lockwood, Esq., who loaded four large wagons, a few days ago, for Camp Logan, situated some eighteen miles east of Canyon City. Yesterday, says the Mountaineer of Saturday, we noticed several more heavy teams being loaded for Canyon City. The ruling price for freight to the John Day valley, is seven cents per pound.

The Unionist says: Our Union friends in Yamhill county are confident that the "lost cause" sympathizers are daily becoming more discouraged and demoralized. They can no longer look forward with hope to fresh arrivals from the disbanded Confederate armies. Pap Price has sent them all the reinforcements he can, and that proved insufficient. The boys in blue are now making their appearance, and at the next election Price's remnants will find their accustomed luck—defeat.

The miners at Canyon City and adjoining camps, are busy at work opening their claims, with flattering prospects, for the coming season. The weather is decidedly bountiful. Farmers are making preparations for large crops of grain this season in the John Day valley. There are several parties making arrangements for a prospecting expedition in the Harney lake country, and also on the head waters of Crooked river. The severe chastisement the Indians lately received at the hands of the soldiers and scouts has inspired the adventurous miner with renewed courage; and undoubtedly will be the means of making developments in those sections that will be of vital importance.

In Southern Oregon the prospect is not promising for a crop of wheat the present year. A Jacksonville paper says: "The amount of wheat already sown is unusually small; much of that has been greatly damaged, and many acres completely killed out by excessive and continued moisture. The ground is so thoroughly saturated that plowing and sowing seems out of the question, and many think that by the time land is sufficiently dry to enable farmers to work it, the season will be too far advanced to ensure a fair crop. The storm has been so general that the same effects are felt in the adjoining counties, and the present prospect is that flour and grain will command a fair price the next season."

A Kirbyville correspondent of the Sentinel writes as follows under date of February 20th: "We are suffering from a storm of snow, rain and wind, almost unparalled for its severity. Large trees are prostrated in every direction. A large pine tree standing near the Clerk's office in this town, fell across the barn of Sheriff Bessinger, cutting it completely in two. Mr. Charles Duncan at that time had his valuable team of four horses stalled in it, but they luckily escaped with only a big scare; his large freight wagon escaped destruction narrowly, as it had the tongue broken off close by the bed. A large tree fell over into the yard of Mr. Lind, knocking down a shed. Snow has fell three feet fast on the neighboring mountains, and at present I am informed is six feet deep at Brownlows, Althouse creek.

The Corvallis Gazette gives the following account of recent improvements at Independence, Polk county: A good steam saw mill of 20 horse power engine, constructed at the Oregon Iron Works, Portland, is now at work and can cut 5,000 feet of lumber per day. Messrs. Coe, Hart & Co., the proprietors, are men of taste and will turn out good work. Another good saw mill has been erected by John Davis, Landtree and Sheppard, all industrious men. The mill is at present worked by horse power. One of the best country stores in the State has been built by McCully & Vandyke. It is well filled with goods, and an excellent business is being done. New gristmills will be erected the coming summer capable of holding at least 60,000 bushels of grain. Independence stands well for commanding a good export trade, and as mills will located for general business. A good wharf is much needed and we expect to see one built in the summer. Henry Hill, a land owner in this neighborhood, has, with his usual generosity, given away several plots of land for building purposes.

The following description of the Umatilla Reservation is from the Press: "The Reservation commences on the south side of Wild Horse Creek, near the point where the Thomas & Rucker Road crosses it, thence running south to Lee's Encampment, and west to within a few miles of the Dead Road, thence south to the Umatilla at Mckay's. From thence it follows the river downward along the Umatilla to the mouth of Wild Horse Creek, thence up the Wild Horse to the place of beginning, containing about eight hundred square miles. Through this runs McKay Creek, the Houtomas, the Tutuilla and its branches, Wild Horse and the Umatilla. Along all of these streams is as fine land for tillage as the sun ever shone upon—well timbered and easily cultivated; while on the high prairies which lie between all of these streams is grazing of the finest quality. The Potawatilla cannot properly be called a river, but rather a succession of large springs of excellent water and surrounded by the best of land. Along the immediate base of the Blue Mountains is also a large tract of good land, in fact, said to be preferable as to quality of soil to that on the river bottoms. At from six to ten miles from the farming land the pine timber of the Blue Mountains begins."

Crooked River Country.—In the Spring of 1864 an expedition was fitted out at Fort Dalles by the Government, well known as the Crooked River Expedition, and sent out into the Snakes' country to "chastise" (so we believe the orders read) "all hostile Indians found in that section." This expedition proved an entire failure, as most of the citizens of the Dalles well recollect, resulting in no good to the whites whatever. On the evening of the 17th of May, the Indian scouts that accompanied the expedition, reported that they had discovered a camp of Snake Indians about [illegible] miles off. The same evening the commanding officer sent out a detachment of about thirty men to "chastise" them, but from the result it appears, that this detachment failed to carry out the published "orders," and returned to camp badly whipped, thoroughly demoralized and with the loss of one officer and two privates killed and six or seven wounded. The Indian scouts lost their chief, Stock Whitley, one young brave killed and several wounded.

The officer who commanded this expedition had never had any experience in Indian fighting, and therefore was utterly incompetent for the position. Had it been properly managed, these Red Devils would have long since been driven from the face of the earth, and all that portion of mineral and agricultural land that they inhabit would now be occupied by the miner, the stock-raiser and the farmer.

We have traveled through this section of country, lately held by these Snake Indians, from the Des Chuttes river to Powder river valley, and know that it abounds in gold, silver, copper, and cinnabar, as well as the best grazing and farming land on the Pacific coast. Prospecting parties going to Crooked river would do well to call on us before leaving the city, as we can give them some useful information relative to the shortest and best route to take for any point they may wish to reach.—Mountaineer.

America No Place for Fools.—In a lecture lately delivered before the London Farmer's Club, Mr. James Howard, the well-known manufacturer of implements of Bedford, England, made the following pointed remarks concerning his experience in a recent visit to the United States: He said he had been profoundly impressed with the happiness, prosperity, energy, intelligence and self-government of the American people. He wondered that so many people were willing to remain in the Old World, without a chance to rise, with hardly a chance to exist. If the United States were crowded as England is, the population would be nearly a thousand millions. In reply, however, to the question whether he thought large and opulent English farmers would do well to send their sons to America, he remarked that one of the first memoranda he made in his diary after seeing the United States, was that it was no use to send a fool to America. Mr. Howard hit the nail on the head.

Not to be Tolerated.—The Baltimore Transcript nirly says, in regard to the report (since contradicted) of Gen. Sheridan's intended marriage to a Louisiana lady:

We look upon this as a barefaced attempt to bolster up the social standing of Sheridan. Greeley knows very well that it is in the highest degree improbable that any Louisiana lady, of the slightest claim to respectability or good breeding, would allow Gen. Sheridan to make her acquaintance, much less aspire to the honor of her hand. Not to dwell on any question which might be raised as to the pretensions of Sheridan to a standing in good society, it is sufficient to say that Southern ladies, with entire unanimity, by a sort of tacit agreement, have resolved to hold no intercourse with the officers of the U. S. army so long as they will fill the role of the oppressors of their country and the jailors of their people.

THE TARIFF BILL has been defeated in Congress; but KOHN & FISHEL, of the ST. LOUIS STORE, 111, Front street, will sell their New Stock of GENTS' CLOTHING and FURNISHING GOODS at rates defying competition.

NEW ARRANGEMENT.—THEOLD BUCHTEL & CARDWELL PHOTOGRAPH GALLERY, 69 First Street, has passed into the hands of JOSEPH BUCHTEL, Proprietor and Operator, who, having just returned from San Francisco, with ALL THE LATEST IMPROVEMENTS, is prepared to take every style of picture known to the art.

CAPITAL STOCK, $1,000,000!

Directors:

JOHN PARROTT, CHAS. B. McLANE,
WM. C. HEWSTON, A. HALWARD,
LOUIS A. CARNETT.

LOUIS A. CARNETT, President and Manager.
JOHN HEWSTON, Jr. Chemist and Superintendent.

THIS COMPANY HAVING GREATLY enlarged their Refining Works, and introduced many other important improvements, are pleased to announce that they feel warranted in again reducing materially their terms of doing business.

THE TARIFF OF CHARGES

Which they now submit to the public—considered with reference to the cost of material and labor—is lower than in any other part of the world, and secures to the mining interest of this coast an important increase in both the mining and commercial value of bullion.

Their charges hereafter will be as follows:

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED GOLD BARS.

One-eighth of one per cent. (heretofore a quarter) for all amounts over $1,000, and two dollars for any smaller sum. Returns made in twenty-four hours.

FOR ASSAYING DEPOSITS FOR UNPARTED SILVER BARS.

Two dollars for the gold contained, up to $1,000, and one-eighth of one per cent. for all amounts over that sum, and one per cent. on the silver contained. Returns made in twenty-four hours.

FOR REFINING DEPOSITS MADE FOR COIN OR FINE BARS.

On bullion under 300 parts gold, 2 cents per ounce.
On bullion from 300 @ 600 parts gold, 4 cents per ounce.
On bullion from 600 @ 750 parts gold, 6 cents per ounce.
On bullion from 750 @ 940½ parts gold, 8 cents per ounce.
Above 950 the only charge will be for coinage. But there will be no charge for refining less than two dollars.

FOR COINING GOLD.

This charge will be the same as at the Mint—a half of one per cent.—and which is paid by us to that institution. But there will be no charge in future for making fine gold or silver bars from bullion refined by us.

RETURNS IN COIN IN FORTY-EIGHT HOURS.

Silver contained in deposits for coin will be accounted for at the same rate customary at the Mint.

Gold bars of other Assayers, in good standing, will be cashed by us at the highest market rates.

Dust and bullion can be forwarded to us from any part of the country, and returns made through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express.

CHARGES AT U. S. BRANCH MINT.

For the convenience of those not familiar with the terms of the Mint, we subjoin the tariff of charges now in force at that institution:

For refining bullion under 300 parts gold, 3 cents per ounce.
For refining bullion from 300 @ 600 parts gold, 5 cents per ounce.
For refining bullion from 600 @ 750 parts gold, 7 cents per ounce.
For refining bullion from 750 @ 850 parts gold, 11 cents per ounce.
For refining bullion from 850 @ 940½ parts gold, 14 cents per ounce.

The charge for coinage is half of one per cent., and the charge for making fine silver bars, the same.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.—The city of Portland is remarkable for the horrible condition of some of her streets as we understand the matter, the Superintendent can only act to make a street passible, either in the carriageway or sidewalk, by a special ordinance of the Common Council. Now this is all wrong and the law should be so remodled as to give that officer power to proceed, upon his own responsibility, to place her streets in the same condition as that of other towns equal in size and importance. The bonds or curcties of the officer would of course have to be increased. In section 14 of the Consolidation Act of the city of San Francisco we can see how a Superintendent may proceed: "The Superintendent of public streets may, if he shall see fit, require at his option, by notice in writing, to be delivered to them personally, or left on the premises, the owners, tenants or occupants, of lots or portion of lots, in front of the property of which he is the owner, tenant or occupant, to the center of the street or otherwise, as the case may require, specifying in said notice what improvement is required. After the expiration of three days the said Superintendent shall be deemed to have acquired jurisdiction to contract for the doing of the work or improvements required by said notice. If such improvement be not commenced within three days after notice given as aforesaid, and diligently and without interruption prosecuted to completion, the said Superintendent may enter into a contract with any suitable person applying to make such improvements, at the expense of the owner, tenant or occupant, at a reasonable price, to be determined by said Superintendent, and such owner, tenant or occupant shall be liable to pay the same." A certificate that the work has been properly done in case given by the officer which is prima facie evidence of the amount claimed for said work and materials, and of the contract to enforce the collection of the same. A special Act for the benefit of this city ought, we think, to be passed by the Legislature for this particular officer, or else a Consolidation Act similar to that of San Francisco. If the city government should be consolidated, of course the charter or charters would have to be repealed. The experience of the California metropolis for the past few years results in one of the best managed cities in America. It would be well for our law-makers, property holders, and those who are interested in the future welfare of our city to examine this matter.

LECTURE THIS EVENING.—A lecture will be given at Oro Fino Hall this evening, on the subject of "Conversion to Christianity of the Roman Empire," by Dr. Wm. H. Watkins. This is the fourth of the regular course, which is fully styled the "Citizens' Course of Lectures," and we hope our city will be well represented on the occasion. A great many side hits are being made at the Plantation Bitters, by a score or two of disinterested friends who have endeavored to imitate or counterfeit them. It's all of no use. The people won't be imposed upon. The Plantation Bitters are increasing in use and popularity every day, and "that's what's the matter." They are the same sized bottle, and made just as they were at first, and will continue to be, or we shall stop making them.

Mustang Liniment.
OVER A MILLION DOLLARS SAVED!
Gentlemen:—"I had a negro man worth $1,200 who took cold from a bad hurt in the leg, and was ... for over a year. I had used everything I could hear of without benefit, until I tried the Mexican Mustang Liniment. It soon effected a permanent cure."
J. L. DOWNING.
Montgomery, Ala., June 17, 1859.
"I take pleasure in recommending the Mexican Mustang Liniment as a valuable and indispensable article for Sprains, Sores, Scratches or Galls on Horses. Our men likye used it for Burns, Bruises, Sores, Rheumatism, &c., and all say it acts like magic. J. W. HEWITT, Foreman American, Wells, Fargo's and Harnden's Express.
"The sprain of my daughter's ankle, occasioned while skating last winter, was entirely cured in one week, after she commenced using your celebrated Mustang Liniment.
Gloucester, Mass., Aug. 1, 1865. ED. SEKLY."
It is an admitted fact that the Mexican Mustang Liniment performs more cures in shorter time, on man and beast, than any article ever discovered. Families, livery men and planters should always have it on hand. Quick and sure it certainly is. All genuine is wrapped in steel-plate engravings, bearing U. S. Stamp of DEMAS BARNES & Co. over the top.
As effect has been made to counterfeit it with a cheap stone-plate label. Look closely!

Lyon's Kathairon.
It is a most delightful Hair Dressing.
It eradicates scurf and dandruff.
It keeps the head cool and clean.
It makes the hair rich, soft and glossy.
It prevents hair turning gray and falling off.
It restores hair upon prematurely bald heads.
This is just what Lyon's Kathairon will do. It is pretty—it is cheap—durable. It is literally sold by the car-load, and yet its almost incredible demand is daily increasing, until there is hardly a country store that does not keep it, or a family that does not use it.
E. THOMAS LYON, Chemist, N. Y.

Lyon's Extract Ginger.
LYON'S EXTRACT OF PURE JAMAICA GINGER—for Indigestion, Nausea, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Cholera Morbus, Flatulency, &c., where a warming stimulant is required. Its careful preparation and entire purity make a cheap and reliable article for culinary purposes. Sold everywhere at 50 cents per bottle. Ask for "LYON'S" PURE EXTRACT. Take no other.
CAUTION—See that the private U. S. Stamp of Demas, Barnes & Co. is over cork of each bottle. None other genuine.

Lyon's Flea Powder.
DEATH TO FLEAS.—It is well known that Lyon's genuine Magnetic Powder will perfectly destroy everything in the shape of fleas, ticks, bed-bugs, roaches, &c.; that it is perfect poison to the insect tribe, but entirely harmless to the human species and domestic animals. The genuine has the signature of E. Lyon, and the private stamp of DEMAS, BARNES & Co. Anything else of this kind is an imitation or counterfeit. Any druggist will procure the genuine if you insist you will have no other

A Mother's Work

BY A CRUSTY OLD BACHELOR, WHO LIVES IN A PAS TUE WHERE THEY TAKE NO OTHER BOARDERS

Toiling all day like a galley slave
Teaching the little brats how to behave
Hearing the older ones quarrel and fight
Slapping and cuffing with all their might
Washing and dressing and hearing them to bed
Such is the mother's work till the day closes

Seeing to rents in the best pantaloons
Putting on new cloth over the worn
Never once pausing to count the stitches
But darning, darning from the very first inches
Thinking of this and when they are out of the way
So his a mother's life day by day

Sewing by night, gowned and bib-in-bed
Longing to hear the last word said
Wishing them happy in heaven above
With all the warmth of a mother's love
Now may the good angels so thankful always
That they love your work like a mother all day

Skating Rinks

In the British provinces where the rink exists in its full and sublime perfection, we find structures as spacious and graceful as a World's Fair Palace, whose crystal floors are nightly, renewed and polished to gleaming by the biting frost Each night the icy arena is plashed by a machine and flooded to the depth of an inch, and then through every opened door and window the keen air is admitted to harden and glaze the surface for the next day's sport From December until March, throughout the dreary Winter, the Rink affords the chief and constant center of attraction, before it all other festivities take their turn It is the social circle of the Provincial city, and the unfortunate in pettinesses or trespasses who is not a member thereof, might as well count himself cast out of society altogether All the chief cities of Canada boast their skating Rinks. Montreal has a model one; but for extent, adaptation to the purpose for which it is designed, and beauty of detail, that of St. John, New Brunswick, unquestionably bears off the palm

The Rink is owned by an incorporated stock company, with a capital of $10,000, which paid an 8 per cent. dividend the first year The main structure is of circular form, 160 feet in diameter, and covers an area of 20,000 superficial feet It is an immense dome, resting upon perpendicular walls 26 feet high and pierced with 30 windows, and is surmounted by a graceful cupola, or lantern, the apex of which is 80 feet from the ground This lantern contains 24 windows, throwing light directly into the interior of the structure. Within, and girting the extreme circumference, is a platform or promenade, 10 feet wide for the accommodation of spectators In the center in a circular frame work containing a spacious stand for the band, from which a spiral iron stair-case ascends to two circular galleries, one above the other, the highest 50 feet from the ground, whence a bird's-eye view of all that is passing below can be seen at a glance From this focal point also spring the supporting rafters that form the huge dome which constitutes the chief feature of the design, producing an effect airy and graceful in the extreme, it cannot be better described in terms unarchitectural than to liken it to a fountain whose waters, springing from the centre fall in majestically-sweeping curves to the outer pertimeter All the area between the band stand and the circular promenade is covered with ice which is flooded daily from the City Water Works The outside front is two stories high, with decorated entablature, and contains waiting and refreshment rooms, and the residence of the janitor. The whole edifice cost about $12,000, and is in every respect creditable to its projectors, and an ornament to the city.

Nothing can be more inspiring than the scene to be witnessed here on a gala night. All through the spacious vault above hang pendent clusters of gas jets, whose gleams are reproduced and multiplied in the polished surface beneath; wreaths and coronals of blazing lights encircle the scaffolding, lights twinkle high up among the over-arching rafters, and blaze along the whole circumference of the outer walls. In the midst of the restless, ever changing throng, the regimental band discourses the liveliest of strains. The dashing scarlet uniforms of the Line officers mix and mingle with the more sombre hues Shapely elfin figures flit, vanish and reappear The scenes shift with marvelous rapidity, like the combinations of a kaleidoscope; here a flutter of a ribbon, there the flash of a scarlet Balmoral, a shapely pair of ankles in the distance, with gas lights glistening on the heels! Anon an expert glides swiftly into an open space, cuts a figure on the outside edge, spins three times, and again subsides into the universal ring The outsiders that throng the fróme made look on approvingly, and admire with enthusiasm. How charming a young lady looks "on ice!" Even the homlier damsels seem lovely on ice. Jaunty hat with plume, slender waist, skirts gracefully festooned, with crimson petticoat peeping out beneath, a very visible pair of stockings of any positive color, even little feet delicately poised on perceptibly nothing; an easy sylph-like motion, a shy gloved hand in yours, muscular reader, and shawl, long capes only over your unencumbered arm! These are delights that pertain to the Rinks. There are falls—mishaps as well, and many a slip—but pleasant ones. A fall never breaks any bones, you know, and of course your foreshading arm is ever ready to interpose between the inexorable ice and the female form divine And how radiantly she blushes over the fall! Wonder if Mother Eve did the same? A little snow does no harm either, and it is brushed off in a twinkling. Up again, the best foot foremost, a merry laugh, and away we glide once more No wonder the Rink is popular, under the circumstances! Why, lovers won and lost there oftener in a single evening than during a whole season of commonplace ball-room monotony The music keeps one's heart in a constant flutter, and of course a pressure of the hand is necessary to preserve a proper balance. Of this we are assured, and then we go faster round, and more swiftly still, until the gas lights, which bestrew above down peacefully like stars, now dance and flicker, and seem to chase each other in swift pursuit, and the endless circle of spectators resolves itself into an indefinable ring of jet, within which the sparkling ice flashes like a diamond in its setting.—Harper's Weekly.

AN INSECT THAT IS "NOW PARTICULAR."—While cockroaches partake largely of the common articles of diet in the ship's stores, they also relish or like books, clothes, boots, soap and corks. They are also partial to lucifer matches, and consider the edges of razors and amputating knives delicate eating. As to drink, these animals exhibit the same impartiality. Perhaps they do not prefer wines and spirits, but they can nevertheless drink beer with relish, and even suit themselves to circumstances, and imbibe water either pure or mixed with soap, and if they cannot obtain wine, they find ink a very good substitute. Cockroaches are by no means exempt from the numerous ills that flesh is heir to, and must at times, like human epicures and gourmands, suffer dread fully from rheums and dyspepsia, for to what else can be attributed their extreme partiality to medicine? "Every man his own doctor," seems to be their motto, and they appear to attach no more meaning to the word "surgeon" than simply something to eat. As to physic nothing seems to come wrong with them As to powders, they invariably roll themselves bodily in them, and fine tures they slip all day long. Blistering plaster seems a patent nostrum, which they take internally, for they have managed to use up two ounces in as many weeks. A physician one night left a dozen blue pills carelessly exposed, soon after he had turned in he observed the box surrounded by them, and being too lazy to get up he had to submit to see his pills walked off within a few minutes by a dozen roaches, each one carrying a pill Next morning his floor was covered with the dead and dying, some exhibiting all the symptoms of an advanced stage of mercurial salivation, and some still swallowing little morsels of pill, no doubt on the principle of similia similibus curantur

THE COMMERCIAL VALUE OF INSECTS.—Great Britain pays annually $1,000,000 for carcasses of that tiny insect known as cochineal, while another, also peculiar to India, gum shellac, or rather its production, is scarcely less valuable More than 1,500,000 human beings derive their support from the culture and manufacture of the fibre spun by the silk worm, of which the annual circulating medium is said to be $200,000,000 In England alone to say nothing of other parts of Europe $500,000 are spent every year in the purchase of honey, while the value of that, which in nature is not mentioned, and this is the work of the bee Besides all this, there are gall nuts used for dyeing and making ink cantharides, or Spanish fly, used in medicine In fact, every insect is contributing in some way, directly or indirectly in swelling our commercial profits Wonder if those villainous little mosquitoes could not be turned to some profitable account"

A NOVEL PERFORMANCE —Near the city of St Joseph, Missouri, a few years since the rite of baptism was administered on several women by immersion in the river As it was winter it was necessary to cut a hole in the ice, and the novelty of the scene attracted a large crowd, among whom were several Indians, who looked on in wondering silence They retired without understanding the nature of the object of the ceremony they had seen, but observing that all the subjects of immersion were females, and getting a vague idea that it was to make them good the Indians came back a few days after bringing their squaws with them. Cutting another hole in the ice near the same place, they immersed each and all of them, in spite of their remonstrances

The Wild Men of Jesso

Our readers will remember the visit to this district a few months ago, of a traveling circus, in which one of the attractions provided was the dashing exhibition of what purported to be two wild men from Jesso Covered with hair from head to foot, uttering discordant yells, gesticulations wild and strange and cooped up in a cage like very strangers of whom barbarous ideas existed, the extreme ferocity of the inmates the exhibition was one of a revolting and disgusting character at best But it had another—a humanitarian—aspect and this side of the question was seized by certain philanthropists in Indials in South Durham The Aborigines Protection Society—of which the Pease and Blackhouse families are leading members—sent Mr Fruttet, of Bishop Auckland a clever lawyer, and he in turn set detectives, to work An official correspondence has also taken place between the Aborigines Society and the Home Secretary the immediate result of which will probably be to the advantage of the showmen, as whether the suspicions of the Home officer or the apprehensions of the Society be the more justifiable, the curiosity of that portion of the public whose taste leads them to enjoy such exhibitions will be highly stimulated by the publicity now given to the subject. From the correspondence it appears that early in last year a traveling exhibitor, styling itself the Russian Circus, appeared in some of the north eastern towns of England putting forth amidst other attractions the wild men of Jesso of whom the following account was given These aborigines of a wild mountainous country have been exhibited in all the principal cities of Russia, France and Prussia where they have created the most extraordinary sensation and won fame They landed on the hospitable shores of England at Hull January 9, 1865, in the good ship Constantine, Captain Manderfelt The "proprietor," unable to speak the English language, has, through the intervention of their consul, made arrangements to unite these wonderful people with the Grand Russian Circus, where they will appear at midday and evening performances, and give a vivid description of their wild hunting exploits by flood and mountain, wordances, etc" In July last Rev Mr Flowers, vicar of Tenby, called the attention of the Aborigines Protection Society to this presumed case of oppression and cruelty and they instructed a solicitor to inquire into the matter, who, after a personal visit to the exhibition, reported that the proprietor of the circus, a Mr Boorn, stated that the men in question were hired by him from a Mr Evans (whom he described to another inquirer as a "collector of curiosities,") and who, he said, had deposited a sum of money in the hands of a consul (not named) to provide for their return to their native country The report goes on, "In order to convince us that the men were not detained against their will, Boorn after the usual performance had ended, got two of them to come out of their cage, and gave us the opportunity of examining them, but of course we could make out nothing they said, and were totally unable to ascertain their wishes They appeared very uneasy when out of the van or cage, and were very glad to get back to it again They (five in number) eat, drank and sleep in the place, which is perhaps ten feet in length by about six feet in width, there is nothing in it but straw, and, except when exhibited, they have no light but from an aperture in the top of the van" An other gentleman who saw the wild men in July or August, 1865, informed the Society that at that time they were confined in a den, which was not only barred closely, but wire was so interwoven that not even a finger could be introduced. The five human beings exhibited in the cage were clothed in furs, and evidently Asiatics The Society, after endeavoring apparently in vain to discover some legal method of releasing the five human beings from their supposed cruel oppression, sent another agent to visit them on Novem ber 1st, accompanied by Mr W Rio ura, a native of Japan They were admitted to the den of the wild men, which was about ten feet long by five feet or six feet wide, with strong iron bars all round, and the floor covered with a thick layer of clean straw, and the inmates clean in appearance, well clothed in furs, with the exception of their legs The Japanese gentleman, Wonyeno Riotaro, made several attempts to converse with them, but did not succeed in making them understand him, for although they manifested considerable interest in his endeavors the only reply he could succeed in obtaining was a succession of short sharp yelps or barks. From each yelp or bark sounding exactly alike a caught arube as to whether those men were really speaking the language of their country or merely giving utterance to sounds which had been taught them by their exhibitors. One of the men was taken out of the cage, but showed signs of distress in facing so many strangers, and appeared anxious to join his companions in imprisonment again The Aborigines' Protection Society, as a last resource, appealed to the Home Secretary, urging him to put an end to a "grave public scandal," adding that "such exhibitions notoriously tend to perpetuate the cruel and pernicious ideas of the natural inferiority and irreclaimable barbarism of the weaker races of mankind which have unhappily become too prevalent in this country" It happens that the attention of the Home office had been previously called to the subject, and an inquiry had been instituted, the result of which will be gathered from the following reply of Mr Walpole to the appeal of the Aborigines' Protection Society

"Whitehall, December 21—Sir, I am directed by Mr Secretary Walpole to acknowledge the receipt of your letter on the 18th instant, calling attention to an exhibition of so called "wild men of Jesso," which is now taking place in several parts of England, and I am to inform you that this matter has been inquired into, and that there appears to be good reason for supposing that the public are deceived as to these supposed savages, and that the Aborigines' Protection Society, if it should cause further researches, will probably find that there is not in reality any such restraint put upon these so-called "wild men" as it apprehends to be the case. I am, Sir, your obedient servant,

H WADDINGTON"

THE INVENTOR OF FRICTION MATCHES.—According to the Hartford Times, the inventor of friction matches was Alonzo Dwight Phillips, who lived in East Hartford, and was a laborer in a powder mill In 1831, from mixing the ingredients of gun powder, he first conceived the idea of igniting a compound by friction, and after many experiments succeeded in doing it. After leaving the powder-mill he worked at shoe-making, in Hartford, and at a very limited scale attempted to manufacture his matches He could not produce many; however, and applied to Dr Alonzo Colby, a block ing manufacturer, for assistance, who aided him in getting his matches upon the market, and soon after Mr Phillips, with another person, established a match factory at Cabotsville, Connecticut, and made large quantities Phillips sold town and county rights, but although he received considerable sums of money he expended it as fast as he made it, and the Times says he was a poor man when he died His invention is now one of the most universal and indispensable articles of use

GOT TO THE HEAD.—The anti Chinese movement commenced in the mob, and reached its head in forming a company for espionage and prescription of American officers, right before last It come out a Democratic movement, with Zach Montgomery at one end and Dameron at the other, and they have formed a committee to perfect their organization, so that they can ascertain who employs Chinese cooks dishwashers, etc Had they not better find out, while they are at it who drink China tea, who uses China sugar, who wears China silks or underclothes, and who sell boots, shoes, flour, pork, and bread to the Chinese The following is the resolution passed by the meeting, which, of course, deserves, and will receive the reprobation of all intelligent and fair minds: "Resolved, That we will not patronize any merchant, manufacturer, contractor, capitalist, lawyer, doctor, brower, or any persons who in any wise employ Chinese labor"—San Francisco Times

A TERRIBLE DRAMATIC CRITIC.—It is fortunate for the actors of our theaters, at the present time that theatrical criticism does not take the form it did some years ago, in one instance at least in this city. Alton James Blair, who was a Representative to Congress from South Carolina from 1821 to 1822 and from 1829 to 1834, attended a play at the Washington Theater one evening early in March 1834 when in a state of partial intoxication The performance displeased him to that degree that he drew his pistol and fired at the actors on the stage the bullet passing just above the head of Miss Jefferson daughter of Joe Jefferson Sr The actors trampeled from the stage and a quick curtain was rung down Presently Mr Ingersoll, the stage manager appeared, looking pale and agitated and said to the audience "Ladies and gentlemen, if there is to be any shooting at the actors on the stage it will be impossible for the performance to go on" About three weeks afterwards, March 27 1834, Mr Blair blew out his own brains with his pistol, at his residence on Capitol Hill —Washington Republican

SMOOTHING OUT WAR'S WRINKLES.—The Montgomery (Alabama) Advertiser says

For the last eight or ten months the work of leveling the fortifications around the city has been going on The inner line of intrenchments, which passed through the outskirts of the city has pretty well disappeared, the embankments having been shoveled down and the ditches filled up

SENATOR ALMON CASE.—The New York Herald gives the following facts regarding Senator Almon Case, of Tennessee, an account of whose assassination has been previously published

Almon Case, was, it is said, a native of Ohio, but has been a resident of Tennessee from his early youth, and has been constantly identified with her history Being a steadfast Union man, he was driven out of West Tennessee When the State was recovered by our arms, Mr. Case was one of those who saw the necessity of placing it in loyal hands He himself was a member of the Constitutional Convent on which assembled in February of 1865 and attracted attention at that time by his modest devotion to principle and by his unyielding though unassuming patriotism Subsequently he was chosen member of the upper branch of the Tennessee Legislature acquiring from the first the love of those with whom he was associated politically, and winning even from the opposite party respect and esteem But the unexpected course of the administration regarding reconstruction revived the hopes and sharpened the hates of the rebels The peace which Senator Case and his family had a right to expect from the triumph of the Government utterly and completely failed them The bounds of treason began to bay everywhere upon the track of loyal men Several of the Senator's neighbors were murdered, under circumstances of fiendish atrocity Mild and peaceable and quiet as he was, he could scarcely hope that his deadly crime of loving his country would be either forgotten or forgiven During the war the pride and hope of Mr Case's household, his eldest son, enlisted in the Union army, served with his father's fidelity and zeal, and then was taken captive tormented at Libby prison, and finally, like thousands of others, starved to death at Andersonville Dreadful as was the blow to the Senator and the family, they looked upon it as one of the natural results of the war, consoled themselves that the life of their child had been offered up in a holy cause and endeavored to still as they might to reconcile them selves to the calamity But another victim was demanded One Sabbath day, only a few weeks ago, the Senator and his family were returning from church The second eldest son, a young man of about seventeen years, was walking some paces ahead of the father mother and some young er children Suddenly the sharp crack of a gun or pistol rang out upon the stillness of the Sabbath air. With gloomy foreboding in his heart Senator Case hastened forward, found his child weltering in gore, and had but time to take the prostrate form in his arms when the poor young victim gasped and died From that hour Senator Case felt that his own fate was sealed.

DEATH IN A BALL-ROOM.—A foreign correspondent gives the following account of an affecting tragedy that took place a short time since at a grand ball given at Vienna

At half past twelve o'clock dancing commenced shortly to be brought to an untimely close by one of those terrible tragedies of every day life that realize the ghastly Egyptian custom by which one guest at least at every feast was compelled to accept a skeleton for a neighbor A very charming and accomplished young lady, the wife of Ernest von Teschenberg (the editor of the Wiener Lloyd), was forming the supper room with her husband, intending shortly to return home While crossing the ball room, where a brilliant waltz was being played, a friend asked her to take a single turn round the room The temptation was too great to be resisted, so resigning her husband, she joined the dancers and was whirled off with great rapidity by her partner. She had scarcely got half round the huge circle when she fell from his arms as though struck by a thunderbolt, dead They raised her from the ground gently and carried her into another room A dozen doctors were in attendance and every expedient that science could suggest was tried to restore consciousness to the fair young form lying so strangely still in its gay toilette All was in vain She was dead A smile upon her lips, and flowers in her hair

Of the scene I cannot convey an idea, such agony as that I witnessed in the rotting room of the Gartenbaugesellschaft is too dreadful to recall —too sacred to describe The gay groups melted away in breathless, horror stricken hurry, within a few minutes the spacious hall room was silent and empty of all the Hesperus' members and their guests, none but a handful of the survivors remaining, behind to watch over that which half an hour before had been a happy wife and mother I have now witnessed three sudden deaths in ball rooms the first two were of persons the more terrible than the last In the first case a lovely girl was shot through the heart by the man who was engaged to be the second the belle of the ball was burnt to death before her garment —which had caught fire whilst she was being thrashed past the open fire places—could be turned off But the tragical episode of yesterday morning is rendered more unutterably than either by the reasonableness that two little children of his victim not quite three years old are left in the world to bear the consequences of a waltz

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible and destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private disease his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury, and without exposure Be particular to those who are afflicted, or those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.
